Fort Leavenworth, Kan. (AHT NC)-Army Lt. Col. Robert K. Moore, whose wife, Ryanna, lives at 516 Midday Lane, Alexandria, Va., completed the four-month associate course at The Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., May 4.

The class, which consisted of 374 U. S. Army officers and 28 allied classmen from 12 countries, was addressed by General Clyde D. Eddleman, vice-chief of staff, U. S. Army, at graduation day exercises

The college, the Army's Senior tactical school, was established in 1881 as the School of Application of Infantry and Cavalry. The associate course was established in 1947 and is designed to prepare selected officers from all components of the Army for duty as commanders and general staff officers. The graduating class included 67 Army Reserve and National Guard officers on temporary active duty, indicative of the Army's effort to train and maintain "One Army".

Colonel Moore was last stationed in Washington, D. C., in the office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army.

The colonel, son of Mrs. Lola K. Arbogast, Huntersville, W. Va., is a 1939 graduate of Marlinton (W. Va.) High School.

Why Memorial Day?

When Memorial Day was first observed in 1868, San Juan Hill. Verdum. Dunkerque and Korea still were unfamiliar names to most at the hands of their own countrymen in defense of "one nation, indivisable".

What was that first Memorial Day like:

Major General John A. Logan had proclaimed the holiday, according to World Book Encyclopedia. The Grand Army of the Republic which he commanded was leading the tributes with services at Arlington National Cemetery. Just across the river in Washington, D. C., President Andrew Johnson was probably celebrating the end of his impeachment trial four days ago. He had been acquitted, but his enemies, the Radical Republicans, were firmly in control of Reconstruction and determined to punish the South.

The day was probably greeted with mixed feelings by the four million former slaves. Legally they were still not citizens, but Congress, after celebrating the holiday, would go back to work on passing the Fourteenth Amendment to make them so. The Negroes were trying to adjust to their new freedom, with little help from the newly organized Ku-Klux Klan.

The old Southern aristocracy, too, had to make adjustments. Its land had been ruined, its economy was near collapse and its social traditions had been overturned.

The picture was more cheerful in the North, where Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin", was now writing stories about New England life. While the war had shattered the South, it had brought booming prosperity to the North. Men who financed the Union cause and manufactured its weapons and supplies because willionaires and, at the same time, speeded up the process of industrialization.

There were still echoes of war on that solemn day. While graves were being decorate with flowers, Irish republicans in the United States were plotting to the ver Canada and hold it as hostage for the freedom of Ireland. Cubans were just beginning a ten year rebellion against the Spanish that would soon win the official sympathy of the U.S. House of Representatives.

But most Americans had put thoughts of war behind them. They were looking westward to the Great Plains and to the "manifest destiny" of the nation. Miners had started the surge west. Now the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific railways were nearing their meeting at Promontory Point, Utah, which would mark the completion of the first transcontinental railway. The railroads would bring in settlers and equipment. They would carry back to Eastern markets the herds that Texas cattlemen were beginning to drive north. Farmers would follow the cowboys, respectable towns would replace the rowdy camps Bret Harte was immortalizing in such stories as "The Luck or Roaring Camp", and the frontier would disappear.

The stage was set for the emergence of the Union cemented by the dead who were being memorialized on that May 30th, as an industrial giant that would spread its bounty across a continent.

The newly repainted tourist information booth will open Saturday, May 27, for the summer season. Mr. Odie Clarkson will have charge of the Rotary project and will keep the booth open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day through Labor Day weekend.

Although the information booth is a project of the Marlinton Rostary Club, expenses are partially underwritten by Pocahontas County business places. The Marlinton booth has proved a boon to the traveling public and also is widely used by local residents.

Not only does this information center have the distinction of being the first such project in the state, it has served as an incentive for other communities to do likewise. Committees from a number of towns have visited Marlinton to learn how the booth is run.

Through the generosity and public spirit of the First National Bank the booth occupies a choice spot on Main street where it is readily accessible to travelers, of whom hundreds used its services last year. Tourists from most of the United States as well as several foreign countries were callers.

Teams of Rotarians will be calling on all business and professional people during the next 10 days for help in underwriting the booth budget for the coming season. Names of contributors will be listed in this newspaper and posted at the booth so everyone will know who they are.

Smokey Johnson Shows Back Of Head To Pack

The kart racing season got off to a flying start last Sunday at the Pocabontas Fair Grounds.

Percy Moses, the erstwhile "Lone Ranger" wound his kart up tight to take the honors in the time trials at a speed of 24 seconds flat.

The first heat race was won by Beb Smith of Elkins, driving a kart powered by two 580 West Bend engines.

In the second heat race Dorsey Moses started in the pole position and was never headed.

The 10-lap Powderpuff race was won by Ruby Moses after Sis and Jane Kay Michael were forced out by mechanical trouble.

In the 15-lap Australian Pursuit Race "Smokey" Johnson drove Johnny Nelsons kart powered by two McCullough engines. Starting in front because of the kart's slow qualifying time, Smokey poured it on and steadily widened the gap. Dorsey Moses, who started in fifth position, finished second followed by Harlan Grimes Jodey Moses and Percy Moses.

The feature 15-lap race Saw Bill Clendenin in Percy Moses' kart on the pole. However, Jodey Moses soon took the lead and held it for the first four laps when Smokey Johnson again took over after coming from last place. Jodey had been forced to the pits with a broken chain. In a ding-dong race Billy Clendenin beat out Harlan Grimes for second while Dorsey Moses took fourth place.

The next race will be held at

Pierpont's Study In 'Honey In The Rock'

The above scene from "Honey In The Rock" is in the study at the home of Francis Pierpont and is charged with emotion as word arrives in the mountainous area of western Virginia of the firing on Ft Sumter. Rex Covington, left portrayed by James Parker, is delighted that the event will cause Virginia to join her southern neighbors in "protection for rights." Dave Morgan, second from left, or trayed by Robert Ingham, and Francis Pierpont, right, played by Lewis Stout, are distressed that Virginia may leave the Union. Mrs. Pierpont and her niece, Diana Talbott, left and right center, played by Jan Laughlin and Sandra Sandy respectively, are seeking to end the political discussion which is interfering with an evening of gaiety and dancing. The colorful drama of the birth of West Virginia is playing nightly except Mondays at the Cliffside Amphitheatre at Grandview State Park.

Jackson's Mill. W. Va.-Definitely improved (but how much?) West Virginia University's 1961 football team enterd the final week of pre-season training with a clearer picture of what it has and what it needs.

The advantages:

- 1. A better first unit than last year at every position, except possibly the guards.
- More experienced reserves. Sophomores will not be used out of necessity.
- 3. Depth in linemen, including third and fourth-stringers who are needed for an arduous schedule.
- 4. A closer proximity in strength to the opposition. The Mountaineers will rate a fair chance against six foes, at least. Last year they were outclassed all but twice.

The backfield, with Glenn Holton at full, Roger Holdinsky left half and Fred Colvard at quarter, should be strong. Holton and center Pete Goimarac are two of the best sophomores the Mountaineers have had in years.

Goimarac supplies much-needed leadership at center and linebacker. He's the biggest man in the lineup. 6-1 and 235 pounds, and already has begun to assert himself, with violence. When he commands "Down!" in the huddle, nobody sounds a peep and the quarterback calls the play.

Left tackle Bill Winter is an old hand, smart enough and big enough now to handle opposing giants. Juniors Bob DeLorenzo, Keith Melenyzer and Frank Sirianni are the other current first-string linemen, still improving after being thrown into the fray last season.

Corum wishes his guards, halfbacks and quarterbacks were deeper in reserve strength but appears satisfied elsewhere.

He'd like to see Dave Santrock, John Blake, Tom Brindle, Dick Struck, Fred Adkins or Bernie Carney push harder and take over at the guards. "Most of these players have more physical equipment than DeLorenzo or Melenyzer but are lacking some vital intangible—confidence, experience of aggressiveness.

Roger Irvine Wounded While Checking Traps

Roger Irvine, 17, son of Mrs. Opal Cochran, was wounded in the left shoulder at about 4:15 Monday evening while checking traps adjacent to the golf course on Beard Heights.

According to reports the young man had leaned his .22 calibre rifle against a fence and was climbing through when the gun fell and was discharged, sending a .22 hollow point slug into his left shoulder blade. Although losing quite a bit of blood the youth made his way toward Raymond Shrader's residence where he was met on No. 4 green by Mrs. Shrader, Mrs. Libby Rexrode and Mrs. Margaret Barlow. The ladies called the emergency ambulance which responded quickly, manned by Ed Stemple and Wayne Ware.

The injured lad was brought to the Pocahontas Memorial Hospital where he was given an emergency blood transfusion and the bullet, which lodged under the skin after shattering the shouled blade, was removed by Dr. Robert Pittman.

A report on Wednesday afternoon said young Irvine was able to sit up but was still suffering from recurring fever.

Esther Meet Pocahontas; Pocahontas Meet Esther

Queen Esther saved the children of Israel while Princess Pocahontas kept the ax from the neck of Capt. John Smith. Thus these ladies of history had something in common.

On the other hand their modern day namesakes had a date to meet yesterday (Wednesday) but Esther didn't show up—and Pocahontas was glad of it.

Tuesday of this week the Pocahontas county Civil Defense and the fire departments were put en the alert by news that Hurricane Esther would hit the county about noon Wednesday. Doctors and the hospital were notified to be ready for the big blow. All was put in readiness.

This article is being written at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon and the only indication of Esther's presence is a slight rainfall that started about 1:00 p.m. The sky is overcast but there is no wind and all indications, including radio reports, are that Esther will not keep her date with Pocahontas.

And we're glad.

Ore Processing Plant

Above is an overall view of the new iron ore processing plant which has been built at Alvon, Greenbrier County, by the Appalachian Mining and Milling Co. of Charleston, The operation of the plant is described in the 'Thought' column.

Hastings Harcourt, Charles R. Jacobson and Rush Meadows head up the company which expects to handle 1500 tons of iron ore a day. I

The ore will be dug and delivered to the processing plant from about 30 mine openings in the Greenbrier_Pocahontas area. Company officials also express the belief that there is a good chance of one of the large steel companies erecting a blast furnace nearby to take advantage of the proximity of the good grade ore that will be available from this installation.

Pocahontas County's first coinoperated laundry is now a reality.

Mr. and Mrs. Barthel Townsend have opened an automatic laun_ derette in the Goddin building on Ninth Street, Marlinton, and call it the Speed Wash. With 14 Speed Queen washers and six giant dry_ ers the installation is as modern and up_to_date as can be. In addition to the above equipment there is a coin operated de_ tergent dispenser, an automatic soft drink vending machine, a sorting table, basket buggies and lots of comfortable chairs in which to relax while electricity and bot_ ted gas take the drugery out of wash day.

Although the launderette got ing. into operation Monday afternoon the formal opening is set for today, Friday and Saturday with door prizes to be given to the lucky visitors. The washing palace will be open every day from 6:00 er of the Na- a.m. to 10 p.m.

the formal opening is set for today, Friday and Saturday with door prizes to be given to the lucky visitors. The washing palace will be open every day from 6:00 a.m. to 10 p.m.

A certain distinction came to the new enterprize Monday when it was discovered that the very first person to wash a tubful of clothes was none other than John Kennedy who is employed by the U. S. government.

tractive young man calmly went about the task of filling the washer with baby clothes, put a quarter in the slot, added washing powder and was in business. When your curious reporter smelled a scoop he asked questions and found that the first customer was John P. Kennedy of Second Avenue who recently moved to Marlinton with his wife and baby and is employed by the U. S. Forest Service.

Mrs. Samuel C. Lovelace, Jr., and son of Ronceverte spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hoover, of Bartow.
